To whom it may concern:

The Colorado Independent Cattle Growers Association is celebrating thirteen years of actively promoting policy that has beneficially affected the live cattle industry at the local, state and national level. CICA was started in the front yard of the Muddy Valley Ranch. From its grass roots it has blossomed into an organization with over 350 members. Keeping with its grass roots CICA does not pay outrageous salaries to executive directors and key employees. CICA is still a strictly volunteer organization that is committed to Independent Cattleman's property and financial rights as well as the consumer's right to affordable beef that they can trust. Now CICA is asking for your help to ensure another 10 years of these key principles.

The Colorado Independent Cattle Growers Association holds a convention every year to help promote the association and its ideals. CICA offers several levels of sponsorship. If you would like to donate $300 and above, you would reach a gold level sponsor status. A donation of $201 to $299 would reach our silver level sponsorship and donations between $100 and 200 falls into our bronze sponsorship category. Now what do you get in return for your sponsorship of CICA?

For members of the bronze sponsorship levels ($100-200) your name will appear in the program handed out at the convention. For Silver members ($201-299) you will have your company name in the program as well as free dinner for 2 at the convention. Gold level sponsorship ($300 and above) will receive their name at the top of the convention program, dinner for 2 and an exclusive invitation for 2 to the luncheon on July 21st in La Veta, CO.

If you're ready to sponsor an amazing leadership organization that helps not only the cattleman, but the producer as well please contact your local CICA member or Janell Reid our CICA treasurer at (719)-892-0043. If you have any questions, comments, concerns or emotional outburst, please feel free to contact any of our board members whose contact information can be found at www.coloica.com, shoot us an email at cattlegrowers@coloica.com, or me (Cody Jolly) personally at 719-740-1031. Thank you for your continuing support of the Colorado Independent Cattle Growers Association --you make the difference!

Sincerely,

Cody Jolly
